

Los Angeles

MAGAZINE

Anna Kendrick's Best of LA

Posted on August 1, 2012 by Linda Immediato

The Oscar nominee voices the lead in this month's 3-D animated film ParaNorman and sounds off on her favorite local stores

You recently bought your first house. Where do you shop for decor?

Restoration Hardware

<http://www.restorationhardware.com/> is a great place to get inspired, especially that new one on Beverly.

I've also had a lot of furniture made by Landon Cole, on La Brea. You go in with ideas or pictures, and before you know it, you've got something real and in your home.

What are you coveting at the moment?

I'm obsessed with Nest candles and diffusers from Candle Delirium (<http://www.candledelirium.com/>) on Santa Monica Boulevard. They have awesome customer service—I never knew anyone could know so much about candles.

Is there a place you frequent?

I go to the Container Store (<http://www.containerstore.com/>) in Century City an obscene amount. I buy tons of drawer dividers and bins.

Which store's closing would bum you out?

Amoeba Music (<http://www.amoeba.com/>) on Sunset. It seems like the one place that's left to really discover CDs and DVDs. You go to Amoeba and realize, yes, you absolutely must own Withnail and I or Four Flies on Grey Velvet.

Restoration Hardware

8772 Beverly Boulevard, West Hollywood
310-652-0323

Landon Cole

149 South La Brea Avenue, Los Angeles
323-933-3318

Candle Delirium

7980 Santa Monica Boulevard, West Hollywood
888-656-3903

The Container Store

10250 Santa Monica Boulevard, Los Angeles
310-551-1144

Amoeba Music

6400 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles
323-245-6400

Illustration by Alice Tait

Copyright 2012, Los Angeles magazine